The Midwest School for Women Workers welcomes participation of all working women and transfeminine, non-binary, intersex, and gender non-conforming workers, regardless of occupation, race, creed, religion, ethnicity, color, sex, national origin, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, or immigration status.

COSTS

$650
Includes all instruction, hotel lodging, parking, & daily meals. Rooms are single occupancy with a shared bathroom, living room, and kitchenette for two students.

$400
Commuter rate
Includes all instruction, programming, and meals

REGISTER ONLINE
BY 5/15/20

June 22-26, 2020

REGISTER ONLINE
BY MAY 15, 2020

CONTACT US

Call: 312-996-2127
Email: midwestwomenworkers@gmail.com

MSWW 2020

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS AT URBANA-CHAMPAIGN

UNITED ASSOCIATION FOR LABOR EDUCATION
ABOUT MSWW

The Midwest School for Women Workers is open to all working women in the Midwest region, with a primary focus on meeting the educational needs of women in unions, worker centers, and community groups that work on labor issues. Participants typically include women active at all levels including rank-and-file activists, elected leaders, stewards, board members, and staff.

COMMON COURSES

Participants will attend core skill-building classes each morning and afternoon along with plenary and workshop sessions on priority economic and policy issues affecting workers.

Students MUST choose
1 of 3 tracks:
Beginner, Advanced, or Train-the-Trainer

Classes may include:
- Rights in the workplace
- Grievance and bargaining basics
- Leading with strength and solidarity
- Communicating and mobilizing to win
- Combating sexual harassment
- Labor’s history and labor’s future
- Work-life balance, FMLA, and family leave
- Safety in the workplace
- Racial justice at work and in our unions
- Immigration and labor rights
- Building community coalitions

register online by May 15, 2020

WHAT THEY SAY

I came away with information and ideas that I can use to keep our membership informed and active.

The instructors had a wealth of information to share. I enjoyed learning from others in a supportive atmosphere.

I hope the empowering and reenergizing feeling that I’ve experienced all week long continues throughout my activism in the workplace.